Bernard Fensterwald Jr.
C/O Esquire Magazine
488 Madison Av.
N. Y. N.Y. 10022

Dear Mr. Fensterwald:

I had read your story in the Esquire of November 1973. It dawned on me that you and people like you can only alive, make money, get along very well just as long as you are only on the fringe of things. I've had to learn to stay alive even though I know the truth.

In your story you point out what Johnson said. Right, but he controlled the so called Murder Inc. and it was what he had done that caused him to grow old before his time and die out of the usual heart trouble but a broken heart. Jack was a young, vibrant person. As President he thought he could stop the Russian missles in Cuba were phony. He planned to expose the Russian plot. Of course he wouldn't have but it was enough. Bob had to go because Johnson feared he would become President, so knew what Jack knew. So does Ted, the reason why [illegible] as long as we have a C.I.A. It was then that Marcello Inc. stepped.

King is another story. He had nothing [illegible] one about that he would have if someone tried to kill [illegible] night three weeks before it was to happen. [illegible] Jimmy Ray that," I will put a great deal of emphasis on the fact that I am not afraid to die. I'll talk about it. [illegible] we'll do it". The only trouble was that when [illegible] finger was on the trigger and pulling [illegible] someone killed King on the balcony. As he realized that the bullet went into the neck instead of his shoulder. Ray was [illegible]

No, Jimmy Ray will never get a chance to tell his story. Actually he got $8,000. It was there.

If you want to talk about the things I [illegible] me in Personal, Lauderdale Yoss beginning of '67, [illegible]..... As long as we have a C.I.A. I'll stay alive my way